

“Latin American women through music and poetry”, it is a performance for voice and piano together with students of Spanish Department.

During the revolutionary war and behind, women have been freedom fighters. Some of them as soldiers, others as poets inspiring other people with their brave lives. This poetry-concert recital, features the song cycle “Argentine women” by the Argentine composer Ariel Ramirez, and poetry by Alfonsina Storni, Gabriela Mistral, among others.

Duration: 55 minutes

LATIN AMERICAN WOMEN THROUGH MUSIC AND POETRY: FREEDOM FIGHTERS

Celebrating the Roanoke College Women's Month Forum 2015

Sponsored by the Modern Languages Department, the Latin American and Caribbean Studies Concentration, and H.O.L.A.

Ada Lis Jimena, voice

Kerry Morgiewicz, piano

&

Poetry recital by Spanish majors and minors from Roanoke College

A performance of music and poetry based in Latin American women. Music by the Argentine composer Ariel Ramirez and poetry by Alfonsina Storni, Lil Milagro Ramirez, las mujeres del Cuá y Susana Chávez

March 26, 2015
8:00-9:00 pm
Roanoke College
Olin Recital Hall
(Free and open to the public)

More info: mujeresluchadoras.weebly.com
Organized by José Bañuelos-Montes, Ada Lis Jimena, and Manuel Gómez-Navarro manuelosmontes@roanoke.edu; adalis.jimena@veriz.on.net; gomez@roanoke.edu

